The sound of keratinous legs tapping across the stone floor echoed throughout the cavern as Nazi paced from wall to wall. The Soviet Union was supposed to be visiting today, to speak about trade routes through Nazi's land, and was a half-hour late.

The hanging vines at the mouth of the cave shifted to allow Soviet entrance to the Spider's chasm. "Добрый вечер, Nazi." He hissed, his rough, scaled hands placed suspiciously behind his back.

Nazi waved, noticing how suspicious Soviet was acting, but pretended to not notice. "Hallo Soviet. You came to talk about trading routes, yes?"

"Indeed..." He said, flicking his tail in impatience. "Well, let us get on with it, shall we?"

Nazi nodded, turning away from the serpentine man and going towards a different part of the cave.

Soviet took advantage of this and silently followed the arachnid man, waiting patiently for the perfect time to strike.

The time came, as the scarlet serpentine curled and pounced, wrapping his long body around the spider's chest and abdomen, pinning down his sharp and pointy legs and constricting the spider-like man.

"Wh-" Nazi yelped, quickly being cut off by Soviet's crushing grip around his chest, and soon his throat.

Soviet wrapped his long, rough fingers around Nazi's soft, vulnerable neck and squeezing, sinking his thumb into the shorter's throat and watching him twitch and writhe, trying to pry the choking hands off his neck, but to no avail.

The pressure was agony, he could feel every throb of every vein in his body, all frantically trying to get oxygen to his head, he could feel the circulation being cut from his limbs. He felt a thin rib splinter and break under the pressure that felt like the entire mountain weighing down on his chest and abdomen.

Soviet enjoyed it, the once-powerful leader reduced to mere prey. He felt himself growing hard from the sight, and got a wonderful idea, slightly loosening his grip.

Nazi felt something slightly damp prodding his exoskeleton. 'Wh-Nein, nein, nein!' He thought, realizing what the object was. He squirmed, then feeling something rough trail down his abdomen and towards his entrance.

Soviet pushed two fingers into Nazi's tight entrance, earning a gasp from the already breathless spider. Smiling, he drew them out slowly and pushed back in, hearing a faint whimper.

Nazi struggled against the grip, trying to free himself from the unwanted touch, until the fingers brushed against something inside him, drawing a soft moan from his mouth.

Soviet smirked, quickening the movements. He leaned forward, pinning Nazi's head to the cold stone wall and nipping at his neck, licking at it with his long, barbed tongue and drawing blood in some spots.

Nazi yelped as his head was roughly pinned to the wall, making quiet moans at the movements inside him, as well as the odd licking sensation. "N-Nein! I don't want you..!" He said, sharp pedipalps scraping and clawing at the stone trying to get his head free.

"Your little sounds say otherwise~" Hissed the Slavic, who slowly pulled out his fingers. He aligned his large member to Nazi's slightly stretched hole.

Nazi growled at the comment, guessing that it was over as the fingers were withdrawn. As he felt the Soviet's part aligning to his hole, he felt his blood turn to frost. "NEIN! NEIN, I DO NOT WANT THIS!" He screamed, writhing, struggling to free himself.

Soviet grinned, tightening his grasp to still the smaller. He pulled his member back, then quickly forced himself into the spider's tight hole. He grunted in pleasure and trusted swiftly into and out of the fascist, not letting him adjust to his length

Nazi screamed, tears pelting down from the corners of his eyes from the agonizing pain that shot through his chitinous body like electricity.
He trembled, breaths becoming sporadic and shallow. For some reason, a weak moan escaped his mouth, despite most definitely not wanting this.

Soviet leaned forward and plunged his long, venom-filled fangs into Nazi's jugular, keeping his lethal toxin inside for the moment. He thrusted in harder and quicker, growling slightly from his pleasure.

Nazi shrieked as the snake's fangs pierced his throat, feeling tiny drops of his cobalt-colored blood seep out and drip down his deep red skin. His breaths were growing shallower and rarer as Soviet's long body squeezed him tighter.

Soviet felt his orgasm grow nearer and thrusted faster and harder. He allowed a small droplet of venom to escape his fangs and watched as Nazi cried out in agony and stiffened slightly as the tiny amount venom took its effect on his brain.

Bright specks of white danced across the Nazi's vision as the searing pain intensified from the tiny venom drop. He had to fight hard to breathe now, his subconscious gasps being his only reliable source of oxygen.

Soviet came in a few more heavy thrusts, releasing his seed and venom into the tired, weak spider. He pulled out and unwrapped from the spider, dropping him on the floor. Soviet stared at the wonderful sight in front of him.

Nazi lay on the ground, paralyzed, bleeding out, and suffocating. He tried hard to move, to breathe, to find some way to ebb the pain, but he couldn't. Shining tears dripped from his eyes from the agony as the venom ate away at his nervous tissue like acid and made him twitch involuntary, sending more jolts of pain with every movement. Finally, out of some sort of merciful blessing, his vision went dark and the pain went away... He was finally dead...

Soviet smiled at the scene he had made, licking the spider's blood off his teeth with his forked tongue. He put his coat and hat back on and slithered out of the lifeless spider's lair, never looking back even once. His duty here was done.

Woahhh that took way longer than expected! I got quite a bit of writer's block but it's finally done!

This was my first lemon, so any constructive criticism is welcome and appreciated ^^

some au information so that y'all have something to read

Aviary Au:

A country's wings are usually the national bird. It is not uncommon, however, for the their wings to be of a bird that either is important/ unique to the country, or one symbolising something in their history.
(For example, Poland is a Mourning Dove in my version. Mourning doves are often hunted for fun, and you should know Poland's backstory by now.)

Wing size depends on the bird species and gender, not height like many think.

We can see this when we compare the wingspan of two countries with different species, let's do Ussr and Third Reich.

Ussr is a Russian Snowy Owl
Third Reich is a Common Raven

The raven wing is much longer than the owl wing, dispite Reich being much shorter, because snowy owls have short wings for agility, and ravens have massive soaring wings.

Now, let's compare two of the same bird, but different gender.
Let's do Mexico and Germany.
Both are Golden Eagles

Mexico is a female, so her wings are much larger than Germany's. She is also taller.

The mane of feathers on their back and shoulders is called a mantle, used to cover the base of the wings, and the shafts of the scapulars/ tertials.

Wings sit lower on the back than arms, and closer together. They operate on their own shoulders and musculature as well.

Countrywarriors Au:

When a kit is born, they have the first version of their flag as their fur color/pattern, for example America would have red and white tabby marks, with Britain's flag over his left ear.

As apprentices, when they go to the Moonstone/Moonpool, they speak to their ancestors and gain the second version of their flag (Unless the flag only has one version)

When they become a Warrior or Medicine Cat, they gain the third version of their flag.
